What is a charitable partnership?

LW Theatres makes a commitment every year to one main charitable cause, with whom we make an official partnership. The ambition is to support a worthwhile cause on an ongoing basis, in the hope of making a larger and more lasting impact. Through these partnerships, we hope our teams will learn more about the amazing work of our charity partners and the causes they represent.

Why Nordoff and Robbins?

Together, we believe in the power of music to inspire, connect, and transform lives – both on stage, in music therapy and beyond. Musical theatre and performance are deeply linked to music therapy through their shared use of music as a powerful tool for emotional expression, communication, and transformation.

This partnership unites performance and purpose.

LW Theatres are dedicated to staging the extraordinary. Now, they're putting music therapy centre stage as they launch a powerful new partnership, where the magic of live theatre meets the magic of life-changing music.

What's happened to our partnership with War Child?

LW Theatres evolves our charity partnerships, so that we can spread our impact across worthwhile causes. We have been honoured to support War Child's mission and contribute to the incredible work they do for children affected by conflict. While our formal partnership is concluding, we remain passionate advocates for the charity.

What is Nordoff and Robbins known for?

Nordoff and Robbins is the UK's largest music therapy charity, with a unique approach shaped by more than 60 years of practice. They use music therapy to support people across the UK, train future music therapists, and carry out research to advance and share their approach.

What do I need to do for this partnership?

You can get involved as much or as little as you like. As a company we'll be running both staff-focused and customer-facing initiatives and activities.

How can I get involved?

We're always looking for people to help spread awareness, come up with interesting ideas and ultimately help raise funds. If you're interested in getting involved with ideas and organisation, please contact Binita in the Marketing team at binita.bantawa@lwtheatres.co.uk.

Do LW Theatres give any money to N&R?

We have been supporters of the charity for a number of years, and have contributed time and efforts to multiple campaigns, causes and events. To date we have raised almost £50,000 for Nordoff and Robbins.

Does this mean we can't work with any other charities?

Whilst Nordoff and Robbins remains as our main charitable focus, this doesn't mean that we can't work with other great causes too.
